

Zac Kester, Executive Director of Charitable Allies, Inc., has practiced law primarily for charities for nearly 10 years and holds an LL.M. in the needs of tax-exempt organizations from Indiana University Maurer School of Law as well as a Certificate in Fund Raising Management from the IU Lilly Family School of Philanthropy. He is a recognized leader in the field and presents regularly on nonprofit legal topics to organizations, as well as contributing frequent articles and insights to Charitable Advisors' Not-for-Profit News and other industry publications. Zac serves as part of the Indiana Philanthropy Alliance's Legal Help Desk and serves several different private and community foundations as a consulting executive for programming, board direction, outcomes and funding prioritization, and grant recipient data collection and management. He was recently appointed as Practitioner-in-Resident at IU Maurer School of Law for his nonprofit legal work. Zac is a director and Board President for Ascent 121 Inc., a leading anti-human trafficking organization, and a director at Indiana Philanthropy Alliance. His experience as both an attorney and nonprofit advocate make him a valuable resource for organizations looking for help on legal, funding, operations and board governance topics.
